

WIND WANDERERS

Street performance and theatre

Freely inspired from "The WindWalkers", Alain Damasio.

Cloud hunters and bubble fairies are looking forward to conquering the wind. A journey from air to water, pushed by celestial elements,
guided by giant soap bubbles, like chimeras of the wind.

With a flying fish as a raft, a dream-maker-cloud, the wind scouts dive into this quest to reconcile and reunite the elements.
Imaginary wind tempest, cloudy flood and tides, between air and water, during a poetic and wandering journey.

A surprising meeting with the audience

Laetitia Sioen, actress, performer, bubble puppeteer, creates "Des en Bulle" in 2013. It is the first version of a meander that travelled at many opportunities, within artistic programs, street theatre festivals, museums. Since then, artists and dancers, performers, Stilt walkers, technicians and machinists joined her adventure. A flying fish is born and begins its journey during summer 2017, with the chimeras of the wind.

The bubble, nourishment for dreams.

The most interesting thing with giant soap bubbles to us, is the amazement that they bring to the audience.

Those ephemeral and iridescent shapes bring with them an emotion in which everyone finds his child soul.

We wander and then pause, to "paint" in the sky huge soap bubbles that express themselves in the airs.

We play with the urban environment and meteorological circumstances.

We want to make known the bubble art and enhance the beauty of this unpredictable substance.

Weightlessness,

The flying fish has been discovered during
one of our journeys,
By our cloud hunters and gathered to become one of ours.
With our makeshift raft,
we steer into our imagination
Looking for the source of the wind.

The bubble fairies must be born in water lilies,
And cloud hunters bring poems into soap bubbles.
Our characters dressed in white and blue
travel through storms,
Jump from clouds to clouds,
as funambulist on the tightrope,
and walk on the moon.
It is a mix of gesture theatre, mime and dance,
in which we created our own dialect,
with giant soap bubbles.
